REPORT OF SELECTMEN.

Your Selectmen submit the following statement relative to affairs of the Town:

All bills presented to Jan. 31st. have been settled and we are able to show a very fair margin to the credit of the Town.

We are required by law to issue a budget giving the estimated amonut required to finance our town the coming year.

We have given this careful study in every detail and have mentioned only such amounts as in our judgement are absolutely necessary in addition to what is required by law.

We urgently request the tax payers to scrutinize every move for raising money before voting for same and satisfy themselves they are to receive a dollar's value for every dollar expended.

If you vote for large sums, expect high taxes!

Study the budget.

ALICE PILLSBURY,

Chairman School Board.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Committee and Citizens of Hampstead,
N. H.;

I herewith present my report as Superintendent of Schools.

As my work did not begin until September first there is little to be said in the nature of a report beyond a statement of conditions, an explanation of the educational law of 1919 and a brief discussion of the scarcity of teachers.

As no teachers had been secured for the elementary schools my first problem was to get together enough teachers to start the schools on time. In this I was able to get two who were well trained and thoroughly efficient and who have proven themselves entirely satisfactory. For the other two I was obliged to nominate young women without professional training and here the results have been less satisfactory. It seems to require either training or considerable experience to establish a professional spirit and attitude toward school work.

In the high school the chief problem lay in the unsatisfactory condition of the heating plant. These conditions have been so remedied by the Trustees that the school has now received the regular state approval.

The general standard of work in most of the grades was good and gave evidences of the high ideals of my predecessor.

The question of whether the poor school buildings now used shall be modeled to conform more completely to the standards of state board of education or some plan of centralization be effected must be worked out in the near future. The advantages of the local schools lie chiefly in the fact that they are easily accessible to the small children. Proper barge facilities largely do away with the objections to transportation. The centralized school is the more efficient in securing educational results and the social instincts get better opportunities of development in the larger groups. Three teachers at most would be needed to do the work now done by four, but the cost of transportation would probably about equal the cost of the present extra teacher.

To put in caustine toilets and one or more windows in each building would not be a very expensive piece of work. On the other hand the return from the sale of these buildings would go a good way towards reimbursing the district for the cost of erecting a central building.

At present no facilities for teaching manual training can be provided at a moderate cost, and centralization would solve a part of this problem.

The results being secured in music many times repay the cost of this work. We are especially fortunate in our supervisor.

The Community Club of East Hampstead deserves the thanks of the entire district for its kindness in making provision for the serving of hot soup or chocolate with noon lunch thus doing away with the danger of ill effects of such cold lunches. An oil heater and cooking utensils have been provided and the hot chocolate has been voted "all right" by the children. I trust that the idea will spread to schools in other towns in our district where many children bring their lunches.

The school law passed by the legislature of 1919 is the most progressive as well as the most comprehensive piece of school legislature so far enacted by any state, and its provisions place New Hampshire's educational system in the very front of the state systems of the country. The most important changes effected are:

1. The establishment of a School Board of Education with functions and duties that its members may not delegate to its executive officer, the Commissioner of Education.

2. The establishment of state wide supervision of schools under approved superintendents. These superintendents while nominated by the joint committees of the supervisory districts are elected by the state board of education, and are state officials whose duties and powers are defined.

3. The fixing of a minimum of 36 weeks of school for elementary schools.

4. The definition of what shall constitute an approved elementary school.

5. State wide certification or approval of teachers and that the state board shall fix standards of qualification to be met in order that approval may be secured.

6. A requirement that all common school branches shall be taught in English and that Americanization schools shall be conducted for persons who cannot speak and read English.

It further requires that selectmen shall assess a tax of $2 per pupil of entire registration for the preceding year to defray the expense of state wide supervision, and a tax of $3.50 per thousand of the value of the ratable estate assessable for the current year for the support of elementary schools. Americanization schools, the purchase of text books, pupils' supplies and flags and appurtenances and the supervision of the health of the children. This sum may be increased by vote of the district to any sum up to $5 on the thousand but to districts in which the sum produced by a tax of $5 on a thousand is not sufficient the state shall provide the balance from funds appropriated for this purpose.

The intention of the law is to make of the state one big school district with a view to giving to the children of the small town whose property value is small and whose tax rate unreasonably high, educational opportunities as nearly as possible equal to those of the city and large towns in which commerce and manufacturing and the opportunity to earn money make the payment of higher taxes much easier than in the back section where no opportunities exist.

The first principle of this law is equalization of educational opportunities for all children in the state the second is the standardization of the schools.

In towns like Hampstead the cost of running the schools will not likely be less and may be slightly more than under the old law but owing to the increased cost of living and consequent higher salaries paid this year it is impossible to make a close estimate.

Until this year it has never been difficult for Hampstead to get graduates from the Lowell or of the Salem Normal Schools to teach here for a year or two, or until they found a situation in or near their home town or city. The demand for young women in the mills and offices of the cities, and the fancy wages paid have drawn from the teaching force many already at work, but especially, have attracted the recent graduates of the normal schools who would ordinarily be candidates for teaching positions in these towns near the state line. The young graduates of high schools have also been drawn in and as a result the attendance in the many normal schools has been but 50 per cent. There are not enough trained teachers left to go around this year. And during the next four years conditions will grow worse rather than better until manufacturing shall have caught up with demand. The plan of certification of teachers now being put into effect in this state that requires at least some professional training will go far towards safe guarding the standards of work already established here.

One other factor that will help to solve the teacher problem, and in fact the whole problem of education for the whole country districts is for people to get back somewhat to the old-time social attitude, and establish friendly relations with their children's teacher. The teacher is just a human being neither better nor worse than the average of human beings, and it will help her to live and to do better work with her children if the people of her community accept her in this spirit.

Futhermore, I would urge the parents of girls who are graduating from high school to consider well the opportunities for service of the highest character that are opening in the teaching profession. To be sure they will have to work hard, and the return in money will not make them wealthy but they will have the satisfaction of having an important part in the greatest noblest work in the world—that of moulding the character of the next generation, of helping to establish the principles by which this country will be governed. They can probably earn more money weaving cotton or stitching shoes. But the cloth quickly wears out and the shoes soon become worthless; their money is soon spent and the pleasures purchased with it are quickly gone. But the character and principles of right thinking and right living established by the patient conscientious teacher will go on and express themselves in cleaner living and better citizenship long after her own heart has ceased to beat.

To the school committee, teachers, and citizens I wish to express my appreciation of the cordial cooperation and support given me in my work and of the excellent school spirit existing throughout the town.

JAMES A. MACDOUGALL,

Superintendent.

To Supt. MacDougall and School Board of Hampstead, N. H.

I herewith submit my second annual report of the work accomplished in music in the schools of Hampstead.

Rote song work is being successfully carried on in the lower grades,—in the second, third and fourth grades the children are doing good work in music reading.

Two-part singing in the fifth and sixth grades is a new feature in all, but the East Hampstead School. This work in part singing has surprised me. With only two years of musical training it is hard to expect anything but unison singing. The first two or three weeks it was a battle but with the untiring efforts of both teacher and pupil we have won. The Song Reader by McLaughlin and Gilchrist, and one-book course is being used in all the grades.

The Progressive Music Series is being used for reading in the Junior High School. For chorus work, Junior Songs by Hollis Dann have been introduced this year.

The teachers in Hampstead are always ready to give their loyal support. It is due to their efforts that the children are always so willing to try. The lesson of the supervisor is only a beginning. When she leaves the room the work is left in the hands of the grade teacher. I wish to thank these teachers for their help in carrying on the work.

I wish also to thank the Superintendent of Schools and the School Board for their assistance during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

EVA A. WILLIAMS.

Not Absent or Tardy during the Year.

Albert L. Coombs,

Ada L. Cotton,

Roland C. Emerson,

Gladys C. Fitts,

Mildred R. Parker.
